

Debbie Diller's Summer Institute 2012

Debbie Diller lives in Houston, TX and has been an educator for 35 years and has taught PreK-grade 10. She is passionate about meeting the needs of all students through engaging instruction in whole group, guided support in small group instruction, and meaningful independent practice at work stations—in both literacy and math!

Debbie is the author of five best-selling books on literacy and math stations, classroom organization, and small group instruction from Stenhouse Publishers.

Get energized for the new school year as Debbie shares her newest thinking. You'll love the organizational tips, research-based ideas, and practical, realistic information you can use in your classroom immediately!

What are teachers saying about Debbie's work?

"Love, love, love stations in my 5th grade classroom! They have saved my life! You have given me new ideas that will make them even better."

"Such practical ideas. This is doable!"

"I can't wait to get back and set up my classroom this year. I have new ways of thinking about my space that will improve my teaching. A trip to the dollar store is definitely in order, too!"

"I usually have to adapt things for kindergarten, but you get it! I can tell you are in the classroom and haven't lost touch with our reality."

"Every time I hear you, I learn something new."

"At the end of the semester, I had lost hope in my teaching. I am now hopeful! You have showed me ways I can engage my kids and use my creativity again."

"It was really fun meeting you in person. I've read all your books, and now I have an even clearer understanding of how to implement these ideas in my classroom. Thanks for taking the time to talk with me after the session. You answered many of my questions and have given me confidence."

"I'm going to use math stations instead of math pages!"
